Renewing our vows to the Native Forest and its people

For almost ten years we've fought to protect the Eastern Ecuadorian jungle by supporting our brothers and sisters that live there. Through the decades their lives have turned from inhabiting paradise to barely surviving in the eye of the storm. A storm that is destructing more and more each day. And we are the creators.

Therefor it is time for us to fight even harder. Through the years we have had ups and downs, but in the end we always prevail for the sake of our family in the forest. That has also given us the strength and courage to take the next step in our fight: expanding and improving the Save the Native Forest Foundation.

We are proud to announce the launch of our new website and corporate identity which includes a fresh new logo. With our new website we want to include our supporters in everything we do, because you are the key to victory in our fight for the Eastern Ecuadorian Amazon. Therefor you deserve to be a member of the family and feel like you are.

We have also grown our teams in the Netherlands and Ecuador tremendously this year. We are very grateful for all the precious hearts and driven minds that joined our organisation in a search to improve our wonderful planet.

We also want to give a special shoutout to The Next Closet and our ambassador Frederique van der Wal. Together they have raised €500 for the foundation by selling some of Frederique's beautiful clothing collection that she made available from her closet to help out the foundation. Thank you from the bottom of our heart!

In short, an exciting new time for the foundation and the Ecuadorian forest!
